Nikkei 225 Cash Index

- Daily chart - The up-market just made a double inside bar pattern. The price stalled right above the TL breaking line. However the degree of the RSI's bearish divergence did not deepen. The PTI value of 63 strongly suggests a classic up-sloping W5. Expect another pullback when the market will reach the lower median line (L-MLH).

- Daily Line chart - The market flow is cruising along the up-sloping channel formed by the lower median line (L-MLH) and the warning line n° 1 (WL-01). Suddenly the market seems halted, for a moment.

- 120-min line chart - The triple top represents a strong down-slope resistance located just under the median line. In spite of all this, we believe that the market flow is prepared to continue its initial up-sloping move due to the price's nearness to median line (ML), the up-sloping orientation of the dominant chart trend and the up-sloping pitchfork of the RSI.
